

Readers' Puzzle Quilt

A "Quilt" will be made with puzzle pieces that are designed after books read by students
Level - 2-4

Originated by Treetop Publishing

Throughout the American past, quilting has been many things and served many purposes: a reason for a social gathering, a commemoration of major life events, a collection of group, family and individual histories. The small portions of the quilt represent the efforts of one worker whose talents and spirit are reflected in a single patch. The patches are stitched together as a community function and form a representative collection greater than the total of the individual parts. Sometimes there may be several hundred patches in one quilt.

You are going to create such a quilt representing the combined reading talents of all readers. After reading a book, each person will create a puzzle piece that will be put together with all the other pieces forming the Readers' Puzzle Quilt.

Provide the following information on each puzzle piece:

Title of the Book

Author's name

Number of Pages

Your Name

Your Teacher's Name

The Theme or Lesson of the Book

(can be written on the back of the puzzle piece)

A colored drawing depicting a major scene from the book.

Display the puzzle outside the classroom for all to see, announcing your individual and group success!
